

PROMOTING SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATIONS THROUGH OPEN ACCESS JOURNALS

The College at
BROCKPORT
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Friday, March 28, 2014

Registration now open!

<http://bit.ly/oajp14>

When: Friday, March 28, 2014.
8-3:30pm

Where: The Eagle's Lookout, SERC,
The College at Brockport, State
University of New York

What: A one-day conference focusing on raising awareness of issues in scholarly communication, sharing best practices in faculty and student use of open access publishing and more.

Who should attend: Students, faculty, instructional designers, librarians and anyone interested in open access publishing and scholarly communication.

8:00—9:00 am	Registration
9:00—9:15 am	Welcoming Remarks
9:15—10:30 am	Keynote —Marilyn Billings, Scholarly Communication & Special Initiatives Librarian at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Libraries and Faculty Partnering to Advance Scholarly Communication
10:30—10:45 am	Break
10:45—11:45 am	Panel Discussion: Benefits of Open Access journals . Facilitated by Dr. Gordon Barnes, Associate Professor, The College at Brockport.
11:45—1:00 pm	Lunch & Poster Session
1:00—1:45 pm	Create a Journal Workshop (Nuts & Bolts) . Presented by: Joshua Beatty, SUNY Plattsburgh, Benjamin Hockenberry, St. John Fisher College, Kim Myers, The College at Brockport
1:45—2:00 pm	Break
2:00—3:15 pm	Panel Discussion: How do tenure committees assess OA publishing? Facilitated by Dr. James Spiller, Assistant Provost, The College at Brockport
3:15—3:30 pm	Wrap-up activity and evaluation, Closing Remarks